TAX LEVY WILL REMAIN SAME

Change in Law Prevents Council
From Passing Appropriation Ordinance—Old One to Stand.

MUST BE BY SEPTEMBER 1

Amount of Taxable Property Almost $100,000 More Than Last Year
According to Auditor.

The city council was to have met last night and passed the appropriation ordinance but the city "Dads" never counted on a change in the law and the meeting was called off as well as the ordinance. The last legislature amended the law, making it necessary to pass the appropriation ordinance by the first of September instead of October 1 as had been the case.

The city attorney made the discovery after it was too late and the old ordinance or the same appropriation that was made for last year will have to stand for this year. The one dollar levy on each one hundred dollars will again be in effect. Thinking that the law was the same the council waited and would have had plenty of time to pass the ordinance had October 1 been the time limit. Even the county auditor did not know of the change in the law and made his report to the city clerk giving the amount of taxable property in the city only last week.

The report from the auditor was necessary in order that the council might know how much money to expect for the coming year. The net total of taxable property as given in the auditor's report is $2,987,683. This is an increase of almost $100,000 over the preceding year. With the old ordinance in force the city will have about $2,800 more money to draw from than it did last year.

In order to get enough money to run the city it was planned to raise the levy but this cannot be done now. The levy of one dollar according to some of the councilmen is not enough and the city is forced to borrow money and in some departments no appropriation is even made. A case of this is the city park. There is no appropriation for the city park and

NOTHING NEW DEVELOPED

Baby Still Missing if There Was Any.

Nothing new has developed in the story of the missing baby as related to the police by Mrs. Elsie Richter and the more they think of the story the more they are convinced that it was a "grapevine." The crew of the train that the baby was supposed to have taken from the city was questioned yesterday afternoon and all stated that they had seen nothing of a baby and declared that none of their members had taken the child. No hobos were seen on the train. The police have no reason to doubt Mrs. Richter but the thing seems so absurd that no extra efforts will be made to locate the baby.

MAN ONCE LIVING HERE ASKS PARDON

James E. Lear is Represented Before
State Board—Serving Term
For Bigamy.

HIS IS COMPLICATED CASE

James E. Lear, who formerly lived in Rushville, sought a pardon before the state board of pardons in session in Indianapolis yesterday. He was represented by Robert S. Hunter, a Newcastle attorney. Lear is serving a term for bigamy. Lear's first wife lived in Kentucky. After he abandoned her, coming first to Rushville and then to Shirley, Ind., to live, he heard that she had obtained a divorce. Without confirming the report of the divorce, he was married to a Henry county woman. Since his incarceration the Kentucky wife has obtained a divorce, a certified copy of the divorce proceedings being filled yesterday with the board. Lear has been in prison only since last spring, Hunter urged his release that he may return to wife No. 2, remarry her and provide for her and their six-months-old baby. The Henry county sheriff and prosecuting attorney have recommended the parole.

DATE FOR THE CITY CONVENTION IS SET

Republicans Also Fix Time For Holding Ward Meetings to Elect Delegates.

MEETING IN COURT HOUSE

At the meeting of the Republican city committee in Republican headquarters in the Green office building in East Second street last night, October 7, was set for the ward meetings to select delegates to the city convention and Friday, October 10 was the date set for the city convention.

The ward meetings will be held in the court house at night. The rooms in which the various wards will meet will be announced later. The city convention will be held in the court house assembly room. A number of Republicans in addition to the members of the city committee attended the meeting last night.

LEAVES TRAIL OF BAD CHECKS

A. F. Weber, Late of Rushville, Gets Away With Same Old Stunt at Shelbyville.

ARRESTED HERE JULY 16 LAST

Taken to Greensburg and Released on Bond—Working in Shelbyville a Month.

A. F. Weber, occupation barber and circulator of bad paper, lately of Seymour, Greensburg, Rushville and Shelbyville, is missing again.

A. F. Weber will be remembered as the gentleman who botched a job of bogus check work at Greensburg and was caught here Wednesday, July 16. He was returned to Greensburg and finally managed to get out on bond until his case was called. It has never been heard.

He appeared in Shelbyville Tuesday, August 19, and obtained a job at John Burton's barber shop. Yesterday morning he and his wife disappeared as if the earth had swallowed them up.

Thomas Leonard, John Kuntz and Louis Kuntz of Shelbyville began inquiring for Weber yesterday and it was found that he had disappeared early in the day. The police were put on the trail.

Mr. Leonard said he had cashed a check for five dollars for the man and that it had proved to be a bad one. The other two men told the same kind of a story except that the dose had been doubled on John Kuntz.

Weber is a married man and has an imaginary account of his own in the Farmers' National bank, in Shelbyville, and if he can be located he will be held on the charge of drawing a check when he had no funds in the bank against which it was drawn. He can also be held on a charge of petit larceny as Mr. Burton, the proprietor of the shop where he was employed, reports that several of his barbering tools were carried away by the man. The case was reported to Chief Manlove and Officer Pagel at seven o'clock Tuesday morning, but they were unable to discover a single clue that would even indicate the direction taken by the man when he left.

Weber had a bad reputation before he left his native heath, Seymour. Several weeks before his departure from that place he was arrested for the theft of a shot gun. He "borrowed" a gun of Chester Miller and promised to return it soon. He sold the gun to Gail Hopewell for $10 and disappeared. He came back in about ten days and was arrested.

Weber had been in Greensburg only three days when he came to this city July 16 and was arrested on information from the Greensburg police. When he decamped at Seymour and went to Greensburg, he left behind a board bill of $25 because of which the police were looking for him. While in Greensburg Weber deposited a check signed by him on the Seymour National bank for $184.35. He told the Greensburg bank officials he had an account at Seymour, but when they found out differently they stopped payment on the remainder of the checks. Lon Myers and Ben Rader of Greensburg held checks then for $5 each.

AGED COBBLER DIES.

Phillip Harrell age seventy-seven years, is dead at his home in Clarksburg. He was ill only three days. He has been a cobbler in the town of Clarksburg for many years. He was a member of the Methodist church. He is survived by a widow and one son Carl, who lives in Greensburg.

21 ENTRIES IN GUN CLUB SHOOT

Many Professionals Are Attracted
Here by Fourth Annual Event
Held Today.

A NEW SYSTEM IS PUT IN USE

Charles M. Brooks Tied For Third
When Shoot Was Two-Thirds
Finished—Chance For Amateurs

A galaxy of stars was attracted to the fourth annual shoot of the Rushville Gun and Country club at the grounds at the northeast edge of the city today. There were twenty-one entrants.

Of this number shooting five were professionals of the first water. Several others were visiting amateurs who were attracted here by the shoot. The remaining entries were Rushville and Rush county men and a few from nearby cities.

The shoot was held under the Jack Rabbit system, one that has never been in vogue at a shoot here before. The entrance fee was eighteen dollars, or twelve cents a target. There were to be a hundred and fifty targets.

Each entrant got ten cents for each target he broke. The other two cents went to the club to pay for the clay pigeons. The surplus which accumulated was to be divided fifty, thirty and and twenty per cent among the three highest in the score.

F. G. Bills of Chicago, a professional of note was leading the bunch at a hundred and five targets. He had missed but three out of the hundred and five pigeons at which he had shot. W. C. Hofer of Indianapolis was second highest with seven down out of a hundred and five. F. C. Koch, a professional of Philipsburg, Ohio, and Charles Brooks of Glenwood, a member of the local club and a motorman on the I. & C. were tied for third place at a hundred and five.

The Jack Rabbit system was used here because it offers so much better chance for the amateur and does not give the professional the opportunity to win most of the money. Since the amateurs greatly outnumbered the professionals, it was thought best to use the system most advantageous to them.

The twenty-one entrants were: Tom Parry, H. W. Veitmeier, J. M. Barr and W. C. Hofer of Indianapolis; F. G. Bills of Chicago; J. S. Day of Cincinnati; F. C. Koch of Philipsburg, Ohio; K. Jewett of St. Paul; W. S. Arnold, Dr. H. B. Cox, Henry Myers and J. F. Bennett of Morristown; Frank A. Graper of Custer Park, Illinois; George M. Kanouse of Greensburg; Alex Ross of Milroy; Charles M. Brooks of Glenwood; F. G. Beaver of New Salem; Paul Daubenspeck of this county; Lot Holman of near New Salem and Dr. Frank M. Sparks and Ben A. Cox of this city.

The shoot opened about ten o'clock this morning and it was expected that it would be concluded between three and four o'clock this afternoon. There were about fifty spectators at the shoot. Dinner was served by the women of the Main Street Christian church.

OUT ONE BICYCLE.

Prosecutor Donald Smith says they are walking more in North Harrison street than formerly. At any rate he is walking more, and there is a reason. Last week someone stole his bicycle and as yet it has not been recovered. The wheel was taken from the veranda at his home and all efforts to locate it have failed.

THINK GIRL WROTE CHECK

Police of This Opinion After Investigating Case.

Chief McAllister and Jack Knecht have reached the decision that Hazel Simmonds wrote the check that she attempted to pass Saturday night at the Knecht clothing store. They visited the girl yesterday afternoon at the home of John Widau, where she is employed and after talking to the girl were convinced that she was the writer. Chief McAllister was first of the opinion that a young man wrote the check of the one that was presented at the store and it corresponded with the original. The case against the girl will not be pushed.

LOCAL ELKS LODGE TO BE INSTALLED

Connersville Coming on Special Car
And Will Have Charge of Work
—Banquet to Follow.

PLANNING TO BUY A HOME

Rushville lodge, 1307, P. B. O. Elks will be installed tomorrow night. The installation ceremonies will take place in the P. O. S. of A. hall and will be followed by a banquet. The local lodge will be installed by the Connersville Elks and they will come here tomorrow night in a special car over the I. & C.

There will be twenty-five charter members of the Rushville lodge of Elks. The original petition contained one hundred and twenty-five names but the grand lodge limited the number to twenty-five. Nineteen of the charter members are Elks and a drawing was made for the remaining six members. The Rushville lodge will have the distinction of being the last city to obtain a charter with less than 10,000 population. The Elks are planning to buy a home and have several pieces of property in view.

HERE BOOSTING FOR APPLE SHOW

C. B. Durham, Assistant Secretary,
Says Plan is to be Presented to Help Farmer Market Crop.

TO PUT STRESS ON PRACTICAL

C. B. Durham, assistant secretary of the Indiana Apple show, was in this city today boosting for the annual apple show which will be held this winter. This afternoon he drove to the country to visit several apple growers.

"We have been devoting most of our time to theory," said Mr. Durham, "but in the future we intend to lay more stress on the practical phase of the apple industry to see if we can not interest the farmers who are this year allowing thousands of bushels to rot on the ground."

"We expect to take up, probably next year, a plan which was tried out in Kansas and resulted in the farmers marketing a thousand car loads of apples. We have tried to teach the farmers the value of spraying and caring for their orchards. Once they have done that, we want to interest them in the financial side, show them how to market, and this we believe will be of interest, because it will give an opportunity to make money from a crop heretofore neglected."

Question of What Unit is in Road
Tax Law is Agitating Many County Officials.

OPINION BY ATTORNEY HONAN

Rush County Will Have to Abide by That Until Definite One is Given.

The question of whether a farmer who owns land in more than one road district can work out twenty dollars of his road tax in each district, according to the new law, is agitating the minds of many county officials in Indiana just now. Opinions on this subject differ.

Recently Attorney General Honan gave an unofficial opinion in which he said the farmer could not work out more than $20 in road tax in any one township, according to the law. The Rush county officials are going to adhere to that ruling because they believe it is the nearest to official that they can get.

Up at Richmond the county attorney, Wilfred Jessup, has construed the statute to mean that the amount of $20 maximum road taxes assessed on real estate may be worked in any road district in which the assessed real estate is situated, be the same in different districts in one township or in different townships of the county or in different counties in the state. This holding is entirely different from the interpretation made by the attorney general.

The statute provides that "any person owing taxes so assessed on real estate shall be permitted to work out the same up to the amount of $20 as nearly as practicable in the road district in which such real estate lies, and on taxes so assessed on personal property the person owing the same shall be permitted to work out the same up to the amount of $20 in the district where the own-

WILL KNOW HIS FATE ON MONDAY

Governor Felker Takes Thaw's
Case Under Advisement.

RESERVED HIS DECISION

This, However, It Appears, Did Not Appear in List of Items Included in Sworn Statement of His Campaign Receipts and Expenditures Made by the Governor of New York Following His Election Last Fall.

Concord, N. H., Sept. 24.—Not until next Monday will Governor Samuel D. Felker decide whether to send Harry K. Thaw back to Matteawan or to give him his liberty in New Hampshire. That was the upshot of the hearing, delivered a few minutes after William Travers Jerome had stood in the senate chamber of the statehouse and told New Hampshire's governor why New York state has been willing to spend money and time to get Thaw back.

"From the very hour," he said, "that Stanford White lay dead on the roof garden in the city of New York, his life taken either by a murderer or a lunatic, from that time to this minute, it has been said repeatedly that in the end the Thaw money would defeat the ends of justice."

Thaw, whose head had fallen forward on his chest, looked up at the man who has kept him under lock and key since the night Stanford White was killed. His face was deathly pale. A strained smile hovered about his lips. He turned to his mother, Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw, who was seated directly behind him. She stretched out her hand and Thaw clasped it for an instant. Jerome continued:

"So far it has not entirely accomplished this end, but wherever this case has gone and whenever it has rested it has left a trail of ignominy, disgrace, filth and scandal behind it that has been absolutely appalling, and the state of New York, sir, will not permit its justice to be defeated by the corrupt use of money if it can prevent it."

"That is why the state of New York wants a man back whom it regards as a homicidal lunatic when influenced by his insane delusion and his vicious degeneracy at other times; a man criminal in his lucid intervals and dangerous in his insane ones." It was the worst moment Thaw has experienced since his capture in Canada, and he showed vividly the effect it had on him. He crossed and recrossed his knees, but his eyes never swerved from the face of Jerome. The same forced smile fought for expression on lips that were all but colorless, the eyes, black and flashing, were riveted on the speaker.

Jerome had been quipped and taunted for three hours. In pretty quick succession three lawyers for Thaw had charged him with bad faith in seeking Thaw's extradition on the warrant charging conspiracy. Governor W. A. Stone of Pennsylvania had not troubled to mince his words. William M. Chase, a white-haired dean of the New Hampshire bar and for nineteen years a justice of the state court of appeals, had spoken if anything more plainly. To top the climax, George Morris, another lawyer for Thaw, had said without equivocation that in his estimation Jerome had been employed to trump up a charge against Thaw and give him back to New York by hook or crook.

AN INSULT TO HIS WIFE

Was Resented by This Man, Who Stabbed Masher in Stomach.

New York, Sept. 24.—Harry Chancer was taking a walk with his wife when a man lounging near a lamppost slipped forward and muttered something in Mrs. Chancer's ear. She began to weep. "What's the matter?" asked her husband.

"That creature insulted me," was the answer.

Chancer hurried his wife home and got a big pocketknife and returned to the corner.

He stepped to the supposed "masher" and plunged the knife into his stomach. The man fell and Chancer disappeared. Later he was arrested. "He insulted my wife," he said, "and deserved stabbing."

FEDERALS ROUTED REBELS

Siege of Teztlutlan Lifted With Great Loss to Attackers.

Mexico City, Sept. 24.—The rebel force which has been attacking Teztlutlan was routed, more than 100 being killed, according to a report by the government. The federals, it is stated, captured all the rebel artillery and took many prisoners.

The government also announced that it had sent 1,500,000 pesos to Guaymas to pay the troops, in order to continue without interruption the campaign against the Maytorenistas.

WANT TO GET TARIFF BILL OUT OF THE WAY

Leaders Hope to Have It Signed Up Saturday.

Washington, Sept. 24.—The Democratic leaders' plan to rush through the conference report on the tariff bill this week in order that President Wilson might sign it before sundown Saturday has been upset. Present indications are that the legislative labors on the proposed tariff will be projected into next week. Efforts were made yesterday to "steam up" in the conference committee, but when the "tariff tinkers" concluded their work last night they reported that little progress had been made.

Senator Simmons, chairman of the senate conferees, who is an optimist, expressed hope that the bill would be submitted for the president's signature Saturday afternoon.

Everybody concerned is anxious to get the tariff bill out of the way, but there are some questions still in controversy that promise to delay a conclusion until next week.

Lives With Bullet in Brain.

Brazil, Ind., Sept. 24.—Albert Harrison of Knightsville submitted to an operation in which a bullet was removed from his brain. Harrison was shot by his son Fred, who mistook his sandy hair for a squirrel, last July 4. He has been paralyzed nearly all the time since the accident, but probably will recover.

Jamaicans Rejoice.

Kingston, Jamaica, Sept. 24.—The action of the conferees of the American congress in removing the tax on bananas provided for in the new tariff bill, has caused great joy in the island. It is estimated that next year's output of the fruit will exceed 20,000,000 bunches.

COLORADO FACING A COAL MINE TIE-UP

Ninety Per Cent of Miners Are On Strike.

Denver, Col., Sept. 24.—The coal miners of Colorado, almost to a man, have obeyed the strike order. The counties affected are Fremont, Huerfano, Las Animas, El Paso, Boulder and Routt.

Everything is quiet in the strike district and union officials declare the tie-up will be complete by Saturday night. Thousands of non-union miners have left the state within the past two weeks to avoid trouble, and more than three-fourths of the bituminous mines have been forced to close.

The Minnequa steel plant of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company will likely be forced to shut down within twenty-four hours, because of the coal shortage, after a continuous run of ten years.

Governor Ammons declares the national guard is ready at a moment's notice if trouble arises.

SQUIRRELS ARE PLENTIFUL

Rabbits and Quails Also More Numerous Than For Years.

Petersburg, Ind., Sept. 24.—Squirrels are plentiful and farmers are having trouble keeping hunters off posted lands. Prosecutions are threatened. Other game, including rabbits and quail, is more plentiful than for a number of years, but the farmers are posting practically 75 per cent of the land in Pike county and a large part of it is being put in government game preserves to prevent the extermination of all kinds of game.

A NATION-WIDE SEARCH BEGINS

Indianapolis Murder Reveals a Series of Crimes.

METHODS WERE IDENTICAL

From Numerous Cities Come Reports of How a Young Man Lured Second-Hand Clothing Dealers Into Hotel Rooms and There Robbed Them as Joseph Shalansky Was Robbed and Then Murdered at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Sept. 24.—Comparable only to that raised for the apprehension of Leon Ling, murderer of Elsie Siegel, the New York missionary worker, a hue and cry has spread over the United States from Indianapolis for the capture of Joseph Ellis of Richmond, Va., who, the police are convinced, is the slayer of Joseph Shalansky, clothing merchant, beaten and strangled to death in the Oneda hotel Monday night.

If Ellis escapes arrest he will have to elude a network spread from city to city and town to town throughout the nation. By this time the police of the entire country are on the alert, each one with the detailed description of the supposed murderer drilled into his brain.

Identified from a photograph by Lewis and Jacob Shalansky, sons of the murdered man, as the nattily-dressed stranger who, in the guise of a salesman, lured their father away from his store at 439 East Washington street, Ellis or Fred Brokaw, Fred Boyle, R. White, W. R. Anderson or any one of half a dozen other aliases under which he is believed to have committed amazingly daring robberies in other cities, has a bare chance to escape, Indianapolis detectives believe.

Series of Bold Crimes.

The series of bold crimes in other large cities that was revealed by the murder of Shalansky has startled the country. From Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Toledo, Cleveland, Louisville and other cities come stories of daring robberies in hotel rooms, each committed by a young man answering the description of Ellis. The method used by the criminal in each case was similar, and the very boldness of his operations suggests insanity.

Identification was made possible by the discovery of a circular by Captain of Detectives Holtz. The circular, sent out by the Pittsburgh police department several weeks ago, bore the picture of the young man who is believed to have slain Shalansky. In the circular his name was given as Fred Brokaw, wanted in the Pennsylvania city for a robbery similar in many respects to the crimes reported in other cities.

Captain Holtz was struck by the similarity of this Brokaw's operations to those of Shalansky's slayer, and he noticed that the description of Brokaw tallied with that of the murder suspect here. He turned the picture over to Detective Hall and within an hour the picture had been recognized as that of Ellis by the two sons of Shalansky and by W. C. Meyer, day clerk at the Oneda hotel.

All asserted that they believe the Brokaw of Pittsburgh is the Joseph Ellis (his real name) of Richmond, Va., or the W. R. Anderson of Indianapolis.

The sons did not hesitate in their identification. They glanced at the picture together and in the same breath both exclaimed: "Why, that's the man who called for father."

FATHER SORELY STRICKEN

The Elder Ellis Breaks Down When Informed of Son's Deed.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 24.—Jacob Ellis, father of Joseph Ellis, suspected of being the slayer of Joseph Shalansky in Indianapolis and the perpetrator of robberies in other cities, swooned in his little shop here when informed of the search for his son.

"Can it be that my boy has committed murder?" cried the old man. "Sorrow is my portion," he added in Yiddish.

The father said that he came to Richmond from Los Angeles, Cal., where for ten years he had been in business. He is in the carpet making business here.

He admitted that the picture of "Fred Brokaw" on the Pittsburgh robbery circular bore a "startling resemblance to his son," but he refused to identify it positively. He then admitted having received and answered a telegram Thursday, refusing his son further assistance.

Breaks Neck in Fall Downstairs.

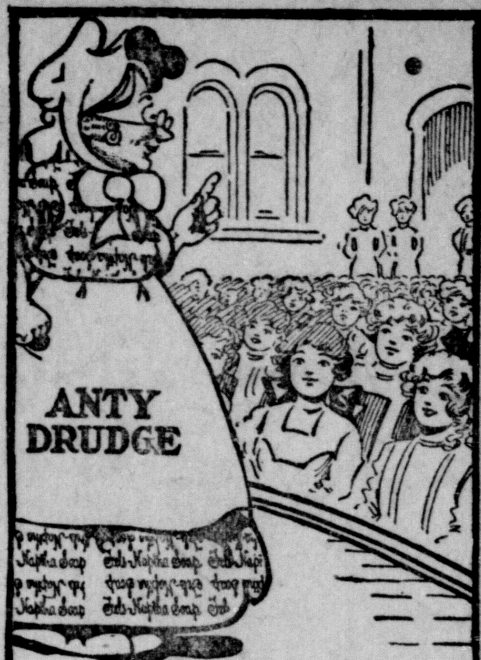

Muncie, Ind., Sept. 24.—Mrs. Nannie Jones, aged fifty-five, following a fall down the cellar stairs, in which her neck was dislocated and her skull fractured, is dead at her home at Gaston.

Suicide of Young Miner.

Sullivan, Ind., Sept. 24.—John McMillan, aged sixteen, a miner at Hymera, shot himself in the heart after he had come from his day's work at a mine. No cause for the act is known.

Given a Life Sentence.

Evansville, Ind., Sept. 24.—Simon Winfrey was given life sentence for killing George Hines because he did not have a union card.

Currency Legislation.
The currency system created by the Republican party during its long period of control has established values, and safeguards of values, that are recognized as absolutely sound the world over. The dollar is a one-hundred-cent dollar, and no one in recent years has been concerned lest it deteriorate or its security fail. At the time the Republican party was born the currency was issued by state banks and was far from safe or of full worth. Bank failures were frequent. On hearing of such an event a citizen looked over his cash on hand to see if he was one of the victims. The notes of many banks could be passed only at a discount and had to be sold to brokers, as banks of deposit would not receive them at the face value. Workmen feared to keep a ten-dollar bill over Sunday. Depreciated money was habitually offered in payment of bills and counterfeits were so common that weekly publications called detectors were on every cashier's desk. The Republicans ended this sort of currency. They taxed it out of existence. They saved and strengthened the gold standard, and by the national bank system enabled the government to borrow at 2 per cent. the lowest rate ever obtainable by any country.

No doubt some minor currency readjustments are desirable from time to time, but they should never be in the form of inflation at the expense of security. The Democratic party has a record of attempted wild and dangerous inflation, and that it will move again in this direction if it has an opportunity is certain. There are signs of it now in Congress and the councils of the party. All that it proposes has a tendency toward depreciation and the increase of the rate of interest the government pays, getting the money from the people by some kind of taxation. The annual interest charge on the public debt in 1900 was $33,545,130. In 1910 it had been reduced to $22,787,084, a saving to the people of over $10,000,000 a year. All through this period the Republicans controlled the presidency and both branches of Congress. In the same decade the money in circulation in the United States increased from $2,055,000,000 to $3,276,000,000. The increase in national bank circulation was from $300,000,000 to $705,000,000. The Democratic party claims that it can radically improve the currency laws. In reality the question is whether its ignorant and wrong-headed fooling with the subject will be injury merely, stopping short of calamity.

Wrote In Bed.
Mark Twain wrote nearly all his later books in bed. So persistent a "slugard" was he that he had a specially contrived bed desk fitted up so that he could write without trouble or exertion while propped luxuriously among his pillows. He used to aver that most of his best thoughts came to him in bed and that the trouble and worry of getting up, shaving and dressing dispersed them all and left him in no mood for commencing his literary labors. He was of opinion that bed was the very best place for the author, and he acted upon his belief.

The opinion given by Mr. Jessup in part is:

"Therefore, our opinion is that to amount of twenty dollars maximum, road taxes assessed by the township advisory board upon real estate may be worked in any road district in which the such assessed real estate is situated, be the same in different districts in one township or in different townships in the county or in different counties of the state."

The opinion of Attorney General Honan in part says:

"When the whole statute is construed it means that a tax payer may work out up to $20 road tax in any one township and no more. If the real estate is in different townships he can work out up to $20 in each township."

The Wayne county officials will adhere to the ruling made by Mr. Jessup.

MANSFIELD IN QUEER POSITION

Nominated Consul General at Vancouver, British Columbia, But Senate Hasn't Acted.

PRESENT JOB IS FILLED

Man Elected by President Wilson and Appointment is Confirmed by the Senate.

The Indiana senators are holding up the nomination of Robert E. Mansfield, of Newcastle and Rushville, and in so doing they have placed that well-known Indiana gentleman in a queer predicament, a Washington dispatch says. Mr. Mansfield, who formerly was secretary of the Indiana Republican state committee and who is as loyal a Republican as his distinguished father-in-law, Capt. John K. Gowdy, was promoted some time ago from the consul generalship at Zurich, Switzerland to the consul generalship at Vancouver, British Columbia. David F. Wilbur was nominated at the same time for consul general at Zurich, to succeed Mansfield. The Senate has confirmed Wilbur as consul general at Zurich, while Mansfield's nomination still slumbers in the Senate committee on foreign relations.

If Mansfield should not be confirmed as consul general at Vancouver, what would become of him? This is a question that both politicians and civil service sharps are asking. He would not be consul general at Zurich, because his successor in that office has been nominated and confirmed. He might still be a member of the consular corps, but if so he would be without a station and without salary. He would be suspended in mid-air, as it were.

It is believed that ultimately he will be confirmed as consul general at Vancouver, although the Indiana senators no doubt will be slow to permit that to be done.

Both Shively and Kern have taken the matter of Mansfield's appointment up at the State Department. Both wanted to know whether he got in the service in the first place through a civil service examination or whether he got in through political pull. In order to elicit information Senator Shively wrote a letter of inquiry to Secretary of State Bryan, while Senator Kern called on Mr. Bryan in person.

The records were searched and it was found that Mr. Mansfield took a sort of civil service examination which was devised when Grover Cleveland was president, but which, the Indiana senators say, was practically nothing more than a farce. They object to Mr. Mansfield's being retained in the service, to say nothing of his being promoted, but they are about convinced that they might as well try to whistle down a Kansas tornado as to pursue this line of objection. President Wilson has taken

Amusements

The Princess offers the usual two pictures tonight showing a Kalem drama "A Thief in the Night" for the first picture. It is said to be a thrilling drama and features Alice Joyce and Tom Moore. The other is a Selig drama entitled "The Tree and the Chaff." Kathryn Williams is featured in this production.

Lovers of the silent drama will be afforded a treat at the Portola tonight, in the portrayal of Leah Baird and Earle Williams in an unusual Vitagraph feature. "The Great Diamond Mystery" is the title of the picture and it is taken from the contest story in the Motion Picture Magazine. The quality of the photography and the acting of the all-star cast makes the picture one of the best to be presented here.

NEW PASTOR IS SELECTED

Rev. Moody Edwards Goes to Little Flatrock Christian Church.

The Rev. Moody Edwards of Gratons, West Virginia, has been chosen pastor of the Little Flatrock Christian church for a year. He will assume charge of the pastorate either the first or second Sunday in October. The Rev. M. Edwards preached at the Little Flatrock church last Sunday and the congregation was very favorably impressed with him. He is a young man and the members of the congregation feel that the church, under his leadership, will be greatly stimulated. The church maintains a parsonage in New Salem, but the house of worship is east of the town.

Webb Bradley of Fairland, who was badly hurt in a fall from a tree near Rays Crossing last Friday evening, was resting somewhat easier today, and there is now some hope for his recovery, though his condition is admitted to be extremely dangerous.

over the management of the consular service largely into his own hands and the President is uncompromisingly opposed to anything that savors of spoils control of that service.

The Indiana senators would be a good deal more zealous in going after the scalp of Mansfield and Griffiths if it were not that they can not receive the slightest assurance that if these men were ousted Democrats would be appointed to succeed them. They take the position that nothing would be gained if Republicans already in the service were promoted to succeed Mansfield and Griffiths.

RAIN DID NOT MATERIALIZE

The weather man's promised rain did not come last night, but there was a big increase in temperature. Summer heat was registered today when the mercury reached seventy-five degrees. Rain is promised again for tonight. The frost Monday night came just at the right time for the corn crop, farmers say. Wagner Worship.

"There is no such worship of national genius in America as prevails abroad," said a recently returned tourist. "In Germany, for instance, at the opera the scale of prices varies according to the composer, Wagner, of course, commanding the top notch admission. But the most peculiar feature of this musical adoration is that it affects the toilets as well. With the elaborate gowning of a New York audience in mind, I approached our landlady as to the propriety of appearing at the opera in such a makeshift costume as my tourist wardrobe afforded. 'It depends entirely upon the composer you intend to hear, fraulein,' was her astonishing reply. 'For some your present attire would be perfectly proper, but if it is the great Wagner you are to hear'—She broke off, but an expressive shrug of the shoulders told plainer than words that it would be an affront to his ashes to appear in anything but the most stunning and up to date evening gown."—New York Tribune.

Get Immediate and Effective Relief by Using Hyomei.

Hyomei is nature's true remedy for catarrh. There is no stomach dosing—you breathe it.

When using this treatment, you breathe healing balsams and effectively reach the most remote air cells of the throat, nose and lungs, the catarrhal germs are destroyed—quick and sure relief results.

Hyomei often restores health to chronic cases that had given up all hope of recovery. Its best action is at the start of the disease when the breath is becoming offensive, and constant sniffling, discharges from the nose, droppings in the throat, or that choked up feeling begin to make life a burden. At the first symptom of catarrhal trouble, surely use Hyomei. Ask F. B. Johnson & Co. for the complete outfit $1.00. He will refund the money if it does not give satisfaction.

name. I called again, and yet a third time, and then for the last time with the full power of my voice. I heard a movement outside and then a voice—beloved, blessed voice, even when it rated me.

"Well, sir?" The words came to me through the partition. She was there, then, as I had divined. She had been there all the time, trying me.

"I would fain have a word with you," I answered, putting everything else by and speaking most entreatingly and with a humility I did not altogether feel.

"I desire no speech with you," was her cold and measured answer.

I could hear her turn as if to move away.

"Think of my long and faithful service," I urged, "and of your gracious friendship for me, often expressed."

"You yourself forgot it tonight."

"For God's sake," I cried desperately as I heard her go, "just one word."

"An apology? Do you beg forgiveness?"

"No—yes—anything!" I finished in confusion.

"I will not listen. I wish to convince you of the enormity of what you have done, the grossness of your presumption. I will give you time for quiet reflection, sir."

"I am convinced already," I urged hurriedly.

"So easily?" she mocked.

"Madam, if you love life and honor I pray you hear me. It is not of myself I think, but of you. You are in grave peril," returned I with the utmost seriousness.

"What peril?"

There was a note of alarm in her voice in spite of her effort to be indifferent. I seized upon its promise eagerly.

"The men of the ship—they are not what they should be. Captain Matthews is alone. Pimball is a villain. I trust no one but—"

"And is this the plea on which you seek enlargement?"

"That is the only plea."

"You did not discover this danger until I locked you up, did you?"

"I tell you that it is not for myself I fear, but for you," I persisted.

"And was it for that you insulted me on the quarterdeck before the men? I will hear no more. It is a foolish plea. The men are devoted to me and—"

"For God's sake, Mistress Lucy," I cried, but this time she was gone.

I heard the door of her cabin shut violently. There was no help for it. Well, I must devise some way unaided, for I must get out for her sake. The cabin was lighted by an air port closed by a caskeye. I measured it, drew back the thick glass and examined the opening, although I knew it was a futile proposition. A slender boy might have slipped through, but not a man such as I. My mighty thighs and sinews and great bulk required a door, and no small one either.

The wind had ceased blowing hard outside, and some spray came in through the port as the waves slapped the side of the ship. I closed and secured it. There was nothing to be gained there. I must seek some other way.

I was not weaponless. Nobody had thought to search the cabin, and a brace of pistols which I always kept loaded and ready for an emergency were locked securely in my chest. My hanger hung at the side of my berth. The door was a strong one. It was locked and barred without. I might have broken it down; I could have done so if I had had space enough in which to run and hurl myself against it. I might even have kicked it to pieces with my heavy seaman's boot. Certainly I could easily have blown the lock off with my pistol, but any of these endeavors would have roused the ship.

I had one other hope. If Captain Matthews should come to the cabin I would appeal to him. For the rest I determined not to sleep that night. Some strange foreboding possessed me.

We were near the latitude and longitude of the island we were seeking if indeed there were such an island as was thought to be, and I reasoned that the men would argue now and it would be a good time for an outbreak, especially since I was removed. Would it come that night? Would it come at all? Was I mistaken in the men?

I have often wondered why women were made, and since they were made why men should be such fools about them. Here I was helpless just because I had snatched a kiss from one. And now that I am in the mood for confession, I might as well say that I fully rejoiced in that kiss.

Well, whatever happened, I had the memory of that kiss. She would never forgive me. Of course there was absolutely no hope that she would return my suit, even in her poverty. She was not for such as I, and if there was anything in this old buccaneer's parchment, if there was an island and if she did get the treasure, why, the world would be at her feet again. And I, like the fool I was, was helping her to get it, to bring it about. I was mad, ay, mad, with impotent helplessness that night.

I sat there in the dark, no light being vouchsafed to me, and the lights in the outer cabin not having been lighted for a long time. The wind rose and rose. The ship was pitching madly. My room was on the starboard side of the cabin, and presently I heard all hands called to reef the topsails. Captain Matthews was alert and ready, of course. Presently he put the ship about, and with the canvas off of her she was steadier. There did not seem to be any especial danger in the weather, and for that I was thankful.

I must have dozed. I was awakened by the last echoing of the bell forward. I didn't know what time it was, because I didn't know whether I had heard it begin to strike, but I could count three couples, which meant that it was 11 o'clock at least. I didn't know, of course, that it was eight bells, midnight, until the voice of the boatswain came to me through the bulkhead that separated the cabin from the quarterdeck:

"A—a—all the port watch!"

I could hear the men below grumbling and cursing as they turned out. They had evidently been sent below to the hammocks after the topsails had been reefed for a couple of hours in. I could hear scraps of conversation.

"Now!"

"Kill him!"

"This is the best time!"

"The old man's alone!"

What I heard filled me with dismay. I picked up the pistol and pointed it at the lock in the door. I had made up my mind, come what might, to blow off the lock and get free. Before I could press the trigger I heard a call on the deck above me, a shot, a rush of feet, a scuffle, a groan, a fall!

CHAPTER VII.

Wherein I Bargain For a Woman.

WHAT had happened I could well guess. Captain Matthews had been attacked. He had promptly shot one of the mutineers, and thereafter the rest had got him. My first impulse was to blow open the lock of the door and rush to his rescue, but wiser counsel prevailed, and I did nothing. I am, I think, somewhat cool headed in a crisis, and surely this was one. I could wait. A loaded pistol was better than an empty one, and to deal with me they would have to come to me for whatever purpose they might entertain, either to murder me or to release me. In either event I could do more than if I rushed into the fray now. I could not help Captain Matthews. I was sure that whatever fell purpose they might entertain for my little mistress would be in abeyance until they had settled with me.

I listened with every nerve strained to the utmost. I also waited most anxiously for the opening of the after cabin door, which was her own, but she must have been in a sound sleep. Indeed, for the door did not open. Evidently she had heard nothing. I waited. It was not an easy task, but I judged it best.

Fortunately I had not long to wait, for in less time by far than I have taken to tell it the hatch was opened and the heavy booted men clattered down the companionway. The key was in the lock outside, and I could hear them turn it. I loosened my sword, which I had slung by its belt around my waist, picked up the two pistols, sent my back up against the side of the ship and made ready for whatever came.

The door was pushed open abruptly, and I saw the cabin was crowded with men. At least half the crew were gathered there, and it was a little cabin, the Rose of Devon being but a small ship. The rest, I guessed, were on watch. I could not see the boat swain. Evidently he had the deck. The vessel couldn't be left unwatched on such a night as this and in such a sea, and he was the fittest man to take charge of her. The steward had lighted the cabin lights, several of the men carried lanterns which they had brought from the forepeak, and others had drawn their sheath knives. There was plenty of illumination to show their villainous faces.

They were surprised to find me so prepared, and I gave them no time to recover.

"The first man," I hissed out, "that steps across that threshold without permission gets a bullet through him!"

"We mean you no harm, sir," spoke out one who seemed to be a ring-leader, a man rated as boatswain's mate, whose name was Glibby.

"What are you doing here?" I asked, "in the cabin at this time of night?"

"Softly, softly, sir," replied Glibby: "we are here to ask questions, not to answer 'em."

"What do you mean?" I cried.

"We are masters of the ship."

"Captain Matthews?"

"He will captain no more ships on this or any other seas," answered Glibby, with truculent emphasis.

FIRST WITNESS IN SULZER CASE

Will Be Jacob H. Schiff, Well Known Banker.

HE GAVE A CAMPAIGN CHECK

After Hearing Exhaustive Arguments Both For and Against Demand For Extradition of Fugitive From Hospital For Insane at Matteawan, Governor of New Hampshire Announced He Will Rule on Case Next Monday.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 24.—Unless the impeachment court sustains the contention of William Sulzer's impassioned defenders that he cannot be tried for alleged offenses that took place before he was governor, Jacob H. Schiff of New York will take the stand this afternoon as the first witness for the prosecution. He will testify that he gave Mr. Sulzer on Oct. 14, 1912, a campaign check for $2,500 which the candidate did not mention in his sworn statement.

As to whether or not the court will vote to quash the most important accusations of the impeachment managers by striking out the three articles relating to campaign money and falsifying a campaign statement as demanded by Governor Sulzer's lawyer, no one can predict. But it may be said that the result is more uncertain than was that of the conflict as to the validity of the impeachment court, which was decided against Mr. Sulzer.

If the articles objected to by Governor Sulzer are not expunged by this vote, Eugene Lamb Richards will open the real trial with a speech for the prosecution. Before the first witness as to Governor Sulzer's "high crimes and misdemeanors" can be heard, there must first appear formal proof, demanded by the supreme court rule which governs this high court, that the charges were made in proper form.

Secretary of State Mitchell May will be called for formal acknowledgment that Mr. Sulzer was nominated and elected, and swore to a statement of his campaign receipts and expenditures.

Alfred E. Smith, speaker of the assembly, will say that the impeachment articles were adopted by the lower house. Robert F. Wagner, president pro tem of the senate, will attest that the articles were presented to him, and Patrick E. McCabe, clerk of the senate, will testify that he served the articles on Governor Sulzer.

All this will be done quickly. The impeachment managers will then call Mr. Schiff, the first witness, "as to the facts." The next two will be Abram L. Elkus, who, according to Frawley committee testimony, contributed $500 for Mr. Sulzer's campaign, and Henry Morgenthau, who gave $1,000. Isidor Kresel, who will manage the direct examination for the prosecution, says that he has more than sixty witnesses and it will take at least a week to hear them.

DIAZ IS ON HIS WAY HOME

Former President of Mexico Has Sailed From Spain.

Madrid, Sept. 24.—Porfirio Diaz, former president of Mexico, sailed yesterday on the steamer Espagne for Mexico.

He said farewell to his daughter at Santander, Spain, and took the boat, which had come from St. Nazaire, France. He refused to discuss the situation in Mexico, and said that he had definitely retired from politics.

Caught Him in the Act.

Worthington, Ind., Sept. 24.—A burglar was caught in the act of breaking into the home of I. N. Bilderback, a clothing merchant. The police were called and chased him to his room at the Commercial hotel and arrested him. The man had been running a shooting gallery in the street here. He gave the name of Harry Resler of Washington, Ind.

He Proposed on Sight.

Boston, Sept. 24.—Miss Alisie Aykroyd, the famous girl swimmer, told how Daniel O'Rourke of East Boston proposed to her when he helped her out of the water after her notable swim to Boston light two years ago, and how, despite the opposition of her parents, he persisted in his suit until at last she agreed to marry him.

The estate of the late Mayor Gaynor is estimated at $2,000,000.

Famous Singer Recommends Swimming as Obesity Cure.

New York, Sept. 24.—Frances Alda, Metropolitan soprano and wife of Director Gatti-Casazza, has returned from Europe, sylph-like and smiling, reporting the loss of twenty pounds in weight while swimming in the Mediterranean. "I think if all persons who are overweight would adopt this plan instead of going to a cure, they would do much better. I have given over salts and baths and love the water," she said.

FEDERAL GRAND JURY TAKES HAND IN CASE

Schmidt and Muret Indicted As Counterfeiters.

New York, Sept. 24.—The federal grand jury has voted to indict Hans Schmidt, the slayer of Anna Amuller, the rectory maid, and Ernest A. Muret, the fake dentist, in connection with their plans to manufacture counterfeit money in a partnership flat at 516 W. 134th street.

Four indictments will be handed down against each, three for counterfeiting and one charging conspiracy. In case Muret manages to escape criminal prosecution in connection with Schmidt's other crimes, the secret service men say that he is hopelessly involved in Schmidt's counterfeiting operations, declaring that they have a clean-cut case against him. Thus far Muret has been charged only with violating the Sullivan law in having a revolver in his possession.

The penalty on each count of the charge is fifteen years imprisonment and $10,000 fine; thus in the event of a conviction Muret could be sent to prison for a total of forty-seven years. Schmidt will first be obliged to face the accusation of murder before the federal authorities proceed against him.

Mrs. Elizabeth Chapman Grant of San Francisco, through her attorneys at Goldfield, has filed a demurrer to the divorce complaint of her husband Jesse Root Grant, youngest son of President Grant.

Victim of Gun Accident.

Muncie, Ind., Sept. 24.—Harold Mills, aged sixteen, who was shot with a rifle in the hands of Jesse Quirk, a boy of the same age, died in the city hospital. Mills and Quirk had been planning a hunting expedition and were cleaning their weapons when the gun was discharged.

"Clincher" Paint

We know a paint which holds to the wood like a driven nail. Seasoned lumber is porous. The pores are the empty sap-cells. White lead paint, which dries on the wood in the form of a solid, elastic film, fastens into these pores, and the whole coat of paint is actually riveted like armor-plate to the surface it decorates and protects.

Eckstein White Lead
 (Dutch Boy Trade Mark)
 and Pure Linseed Oil

make the paint that spreads into a solid body. It becomes a part of the wood itself—an outer layer that preserves the life of the lumber.

We sell it as well as other painting requisites. Come in and have a talk with us about painting.

Y.M.I. COMING TO WIN THIS TIME

Nichols Who Will Pitch Held Kokomo to Two Scattered Hits Last Sunday.

HARD GAME FOR ARCADIAN

Cincinnati Team Wants Revenge For Those Two Defeats—Vedder Will be in Box.

A real ball game is promised Sunday when the Arcadians and the Y. M. I. team of Cincinnati come together for the third time this season. The Y. M. I. aggregation lost both of the former games but the last was a mere scratch and was won in the ninth inning by the locals who scored their four runs. The first game went thirteen innings with the Arcadians finally winning out.

The Y. M. I. team is even stronger than on their first appearance here, having signed several leaguers and are coming this time to win over the Arcadians. Last Sunday the Y. M. I. team played at Kokomo and were defeated by a 1 to 0 score. Nichols, who pitched for the Y. M. I. team here in the last game and who will work Sunday, held the heavy hitting Kokomo team to two scattered hits and should have won his game.

The fans need very little introduction to the Y. M. I. team as those first two games should be enough to show that they have a team. The Cincinnati team is a slugging aggregation getting eleven hits off Avery in the second game while Rushville could get but five off Nichols but won the game at that. Vedder will be in the box for Rushville and the little fellow, while aware that the Y. M. I. team is a fast gang, is confident that he can win and with a fast team behind him the game should be a battle.

Since playing here the Y. M. I. team has won the championship from the Cincinnati Shamrocks, which shows that they are traveling. A. M. Jordan, manager of the Y. M. I.'s in a letter here recently, said concerning the game: "We are booked for the final game with Rushville on September 28, and if ever we win a game it will be then. I personally feel bad about losing those two games to Rushville and we are sure

A LITTLE READY MONEY

MEANS much to the man or woman who must earn their own living. The need of it is always present: now and then it is needed very badly. Sickness or accident may stop your earnings for a while. You may want money to build a home, or to take advantage of a good investment. Opportunities often come to the man with ready money. It is the only sure protection against poverty or want.

HOW TO GET IT

BY saving a little every month. It isn't what you earn, but what you save—which increases your fund of wealth. Strange as it may seem, it is the wage earners of this country who save the most money. The wage earner works hard for what he gets and he knows its value. As the years slip by, they bring around a time when his power to earn grows less and his need of money grows more. That time will surely come in the life of each one of us. Are you preparing for it by opening a SAVINGS ACCOUNT with coming prepared to clean up and a good one at that."

The Y. M. I. team will line up as follows: Kiefel, catch; Nichols, pitch; Wieckel, first; Yockey, second; Reggy, third; O'Connell, short; Schwartz, left; Badel, center, and Dacy, right. It will be noticed that the heavy hitting catcher, Kiefel is still with the Y. M. I.'s as is Reggy, Yockey and O'Connell. The new men were added in the hope of strengthening. The Arcadians will line up in the usual manner. Bridgeman will be here Sunday and will be seen at his usual place at first.
